Dems Seek Probe on Rove Role in CIA Leak

AP - 50 minutes ago

WASHINGTON - Democrats stirred the pot Thursday in the case of presidential aide Karl Rove and the news leak that unmasked a CIA agent, pushing the issue toward the Senate floor, pressing for a congressional investigation and inviting the operative's husband to the Capitol to accuse the White House of a "smear campaign."

Rehnquist insists he won't resign Supreme Court chief justice will stay, leaving Bush with just one court pick

AP Associated Press

Updated: 12:23 p.m. ET July 15, 2005

WASHINGTON - Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist's pledge to continue working while battling thyroid cancer leaves the White House with just one Supreme Court seat to fill, suddenly changing the dynamic of the summer confirmation battle.

The prospects of a double high court vacancy had much of Washington in a frenzy. Justice Sandra Day O'Connor announced earlier this month that she was stepping down, and the retirement of 80-year-old Rehnquist was thought to be next.

"I want to put to rest the speculation and unfounded rumors of my imminent retirement," Rehnquist said in a statement first disclosed by The Associated Press late Thursday and later confirmed by the court.

Rove Reportedly Held Phone Talk on C.I.A. Officer

By David Johnston / NYT — Posted 12 hours ago — Permalink

WASHINGTON, July 14 - Karl Rove, the White House senior adviser, spoke with the columnist Robert D. Novak as he was preparing an article in July 2003 that identified a C.I.A. officer who was undercover, someone who has been officially briefed on the matter said.

Barbara O'Brien: Rove Watch — The newest "dog ate my homework" story from the White House is that Karl Rove learned about Valerie Plame from Bob Novak in July 2003.

Avedon Carol: Notes from a turbulent world — Really, The New York Times has been wrong-footing it all the way down the line, and today is no exception.

John Cole: Rove/Plame/Novak and the NY Times — Big three page piece in the NY Times about a previously undisclosed phone...

Tom Burka: For instance, Libby said, Rove did not leak Valerie Plame's name and occupation to Robert Novak; Novak leaked it to him.

Jesse Taylor: Crap, Crap, And Yes, Crap — Given the latest spin on the Plame case (now, apparently, Novak called Rove, asked him...

Andrew Sullivan: We seem to know, thanks to Newsweek and now the NYT, that Rove confirmed to both Matt Cooper and Bob Novak that Joe Wilson's wife worked for the CIA.

Reuters provides an interactive, full-screen news video experience for Microsoft® Windows® XP Media Center Edition users. The Reuters interactive TV news channel provides continuously updated footage with easy-to-use DVD-style interaction. As a free-of-charge service, users can browse and watch 1-5 minute long, fully produced Reuters reports and raw video segments on their TV at their convenience. News stories are updated dynamically and are available as they break.

What is the Reuters Interactive TV news channel for Media Center? The Reuters news channel for Windows XP Media Center Edition delivers an interactive, full screen video news experience over the Internet to a home TV. It has been designed to have a similar user interface and navigation to Media Center, with remote control navigation that accesses DVD-like menus by using only the arrow keys and the select button. No keyboard, mouse input, or specialized controls are required making it well-suited for TV interaction.
